An emergency call to action

What we do now can make a difference

We must act now - as more U.S. warships are deploying to the Persian Gulf, we have to mobilize to stop an 'October Surprise' or any other attack on Iran- or any other country. Politicians don't stop wars - they create them. The only force that will stop endless war in the Middle East is a massive grassroots peoples movement.

We need money for jobs and housing - not for another war

While billions of dollars go to war, at home the unemployment rate has seen the biggest spike in 23 years. Home foreclosures and evictions are increasing; fuel and food prices are through the roof. While the situation is growing dire for many, Washington's cutbacks in domestic programs continue. The fiscal year beginning on October 1 will bring drastic cuts. A new U.S. war will bring only more suffering here as well as massive destruction abroad.

The recent Hurricane Gustav highlighted the failure of Washington to do anything to rebuild the Gulf Coast in the aftermath of Hurricanes Katrina and Rita. Three years after the disaster, thousands of people are still homeless, as the money that could have been spent on meeting human needs has gone to fund the Pentagon and the agenda of endless war. Every social program and every aspect of the economy has been impacted by the billions of dollars wasted on war.

Stop War on Iran!

Stop War on Iran is an international grassroots campaign of activists, scholars, clergy, veterans and other concerned individuals, launched in February of 2006 to oppose Washington's campaign of threats, sanctions, and demonization against the people of Iran.

Since the launch of the campaign we have generated more than 1 million messages sent to President Bush, Vice President Cheney, members of the House and Senate (from both parties), members of the press, and oil company executives.

We have also organized teach-ins and organizing meetings across the U.S., and taken Stop War on Iran literature, placards, and banners to every major national antiwar demonstration as well as numerous local actions.

But it is clearly time to turn up the heat. Threats against Iran are growing daily, and the Bush Administration has mobilized a massive naval presence within striking range of Iran.

The Stop War on Iran Campaign has been mobilizing non-stop this summer to help build a movement to stop Washington's drive to war. On August 2, in response to an emergency call for international actions issued by the Stop War On Iran campaign, anti-war activists in more than 100 cities— from Bangladesh to Boston, and from Vancouver to Hawaii, in cities large and small-voiced their opposition boldly in the streets.

In the past few weeks, Stop War on Iran activists have been in the streets of Denver and St. Paul, at the many protests at the Democratic and Republican National Conventions, where we carried Stop War on Iran placards and banners, and distributed tens of thousands of Stop War On Iran newsletters, reaching out to the many activists in both cities, to help build grassroots opposition to Washington's bipartisan agenda of endless war.

But we must do more! As the threat of a U.S. attack on Iran grows, we must do everything we can to build a grassroots movement to oppose this aggression, while continuing to protest the occupations of Iraq and Afghanistan.

Here's how you can help:

- Volunteer - call us 212-633-6646 for more information.
- Organize a local September 27 action to Stop War On Iran, whether it is a march or rally, speak out, picket, teach-in - in cities large or small - what you do can make a difference. You can list your action at StopWarOnIran.org, so other activists in your area can contact you and get involved.
- Donate to help with organizing expenses. You can donate online at StopWarOnIran.org.
- Endorse the Call to Action for Sept. 27
